

Keats's Odes at 200: A One-Day Bicentenary Conference (1819-2019)

1 February 2019, Université de Caen Normandie

Maison de la Recherche en Sciences Humaines, Salle des Actes SH 027

Organized by Jeremy Elprin (Université de Caen Normandie) and Caroline Bertonèche (Université Grenoble Alpes)

* * *

Conference Programme

9:00 - 9:15            Welcome

9:15-10:00            Keynote: Stanley Plumly (University of Maryland)

Session 1: Poetic Pains and Gains

10:00-10:30            Francis Christian (University of Saskatchewan), "John Keats: Using Suffering to Advance Transcendent Goals in the Great Odes"

10:30-11:00            Randa Hobbi (Université Paris Sorbonne), "The Poetic Landscape in Hugo's Contemplations and Keats's Odes"

Coffee break

Session 2: Addressing Otherness in the Odes

11:30-12:00            David Lo (University of Tübingen), "John Keats's Lyrical Odes and Otherness"

12:00-12:30            Jeremy Elprin (Université de Caen Normandie), "On the Self-Enveloped Selflessness of Keats's Odes"

Lunch

Session 3: Odic Origins and Resonances

14:00-14:30            Regine May (University of Leeds), "Keats's Ode to Psyche: Exploring the Importance of Apuleius's Metamorphoses for Keats's Poetic Identity"

14:30-15:00            Sultana Raza (independent scholar), "Filaments of Eastern Philosophy in Keats's Poetry"

15:00-15:30            Jean-Marie Fournier (Université Paris Diderot), "Horatian Keats?"

15:30-16:00            Closing remarks and discussion